He Was Waiting.

A citizen on his way home late the other night, saw a boy sitting in front of a house on Union street.

"What are you doing there, bub?" he inquired in surprise.

"Sh! keep still!" said the boy in a whisper. "I live here."

"Well, why don't you go into the house?" said the citizen.

"Waitin' for the fun," replied the boy. "Father's just gone in. He told me to wait till he told her he'd been to lodge, an' then come in an' say I couldn't find him, and not mention his bein' in the billiard hall, but I knowed mother, an' if you wait a minute you'll hear somethin' kinder bang against the side of the room like."

And just at that moment a muffled sound issued from the room where a light was visible.

"That's him—that's father," exclaimed the boy in great glee.

"Blame my you'll hear a lamp smash, an' I'm goin' to rush in an' look 'ere."

He passed on and left the mother in the gate with the live-locked on his countenance.

"to be lost?" asked a woman of a little boy the street for his lost indignantly the three-year-old, and I e-can't find

"Ma, lend me a pencil; I want to draw some ladies." "Draw some ladies! Why Johny, this is Sunday." Well, I'll draw them in their Sunday clothes."

THE CURRENCY QUESTION.

Understanding the fact that thousands of our people are at present worrying themselves about the death of their business, even to the extent of neglecting their families, there are still thousands upon thousands of smart, hard working, intelligent men pouring into the great Arkansas Valley, the Garden of the West, where the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad offers them their choice of 2,500,000 acres of the finest farming lands in the world at almost their own prices. If you do not believe it, write to the undersigned, who will tell you where you can see a splendid land exploring ticket, and how, at a moderate expense, you can see for yourself and be convinced.
